

Fire Razes Farm Home, Two Barns and Other Buildings Near Zora

Flying Sparks Set Fire To Second Property Quarter Mile From First Fire.

$3,000 DAMAGE IS ESTIMATED

Fanned by a strong wind, fire believed to have started in a chimney at the home of William Warren, a half mile north of Zora, destroyed the Warren home and barn, Sunday, and then leaped to the farm of Joseph Kemper, a quarter of a mile away, where a barn, chicken house and hogan were destroyed.

The fires, which occurred between noon and 1 o'clock, Sunday afternoon, caused damage estimated in excess of $3,000, partly covered by insurance.

A tin roof on the Kemper home saved that place from destruction as sparks from the other fires were blown across it.

Loose Clothing

The Warrens were eating dinner when the fire broke out on the shingle roof of their home. The blaze had gained considerable headway before neighbors discovered the fire and notified the family. All of the furniture and household goods on the first floor of the Warren home and in the cellar were removed from the burning structure, but everything on the second floor, including the family's clothing, were destroyed.

Sparks from the Warren home set fire to the barn on the place within a few minutes, and soon both structures were a mass of flames.

The Fairfield and Emmitsburg fire companies, each with two engines, arrived on the scene shortly after the alarm was turned in, but both places were beyond saving, and the volunteers directed their efforts toward saving a shed, between the house and the barn.

Implements Destroyed

A calf, a small wagon, about a quarter of a ton of hay and a few farm implements were consumed in the blaze at Warren's barn. A cow in the barn was taken out.

The Warren properties were nearly burned down when clouds of black smoke were seen rolling up from the Kemper farm buildings, and the fire trucks and volunteers hurried to the scene of the new conflagration.

When the firemen arrived at Kemper's, the barn was beyond saving, and they directed their attention toward saving the house. All of the furniture in the place was removed to safety in the event the dwelling caught fire.

Flying sparks from the Warren fires are believed to have set fire to the straw stack outside the Kemper barn. A chicken house and a hogan on the Kemper farm also were destroyed.

The Warren home had recently been remodeled and papered.

The Warrens estimate their loss at $2,000, while Kemper's loss is estimated at $1,000.

Harrisburg Woman Has Lacerated Head And Her Son Fractures a Toe.

CARS COLLIDE PASSING WAGON

Two persons were injured in two automobile accidents, near Hunters Run, on the Carlisle road, Saturday evening.

Mrs. D. A. Wampler, of Harrisburg, and her son, Alvin, 9, were injured when the sedan, driven by Mr. Wampler, crashed into the rear of a truck driven by Charles F. Asper, of Aspers, near Hunters Run, Saturday evening at 5:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Wampler suffered a severely lacerated head, while her son had a toe on his right foot broken. Both received treatment at the office of Dr. Charles M. Shaffer, Carlisle. Seven stitches were required to close the cut on Mrs. Wampler's head.

Both Asper and Wampler were traveling south on the Carlisle road, when the former's truck slowed down. Wampler was unable to check the speed of his machine and it crashed into the rear of Asper's truck.

Life May Prove Purchase Price Of Comfortable Pair of Shoes

New York, March 18 (AP).—For a pair of shoes Alfred Schegolihin may die.

"I want a comfortable pair," he told the clerk Saturday night. "You see," he added, apologetically, "my feet are about on the ground in these old ones."

What he did not say was that for months he had been fruitlessly hunting a job as a marine fireman, and that he didn't have a penny to his name.

He tried on several pairs. No need to be hasty.

"I want comfortable shoes," he repeated. "The price makes no difference to me."

It is easy to buy $15 shoes as $2 shoes when one doesn't intend to pay anything at all.

Finally he was satisfied. "Wrap up my old ones," he said. "I'll wear the new ones."

And wearing them, he sprinted

Here and There

News and Comment by THE EDITOR

SINCE its delivery here at the dedication of the National cemetery, Lincoln's Gettysburg address has been a part of patriotic functions in all sections of the country. In addition, the brief address has often been held up as a perfect example of English composition.

But now a new use for the speech has been found. It has been made part of a motion picture comedy entitled, "Ruggles of Red Gap."

The address furnishes the climax of the film when Charles Laughton, the featured player, recites it in a straightforward manner.

On first thought, the casual observer might consider the use of the famed speech in a movie as unpatriotic, but a prominent New York critic writes of its application as follows:

"Mr. Laughton speaks it (Lincoln's address) so handsomely that the episode becomes a stirring bit of propaganda for what is best in American patriotism."

So, it appears that no matter what the external influences and conditions, the speech of the martyred civil war president still conveys to American citizens the highest ideals of patriotism.

EARLY on a recent morning, a farmer residing in the vicinity of New Oxford entered a New Oxford garage and asked for permission to use the telephone to engage a veterinarian to administer to one of his mares he believed seriously ill.

He called several persons in Gettysburg but in each instance he was unable to enlist their services. Then, some one in the garage suggested that he get in touch with Doctor Wentz, of Littlestown. Following this suggestion, the owner of the sick mare tried to locate the veterinarian in Littlestown, but was informed that the veterinarian had moved to Gettysburg.

Turning his attention again to the county seat, the farmer finally located Doctor Wentz on the telephone. His first words over the wire were:

"Can you come to New Oxford at once, Doctor Wentz?"

And Doctor Wentz in Gettysburg replied, "Why, yes, but . . ."

Here the farmer broke in and explained that he had a very sick mare and would appreciate it if he (Doctor Wentz) would come to New Oxford and relieve her suffering.

And Doctor Wentz replied to that request in words somewhat like the following:

"I'm sorry, but I'm Doctor A. R. Wentz, of the Lutheran Theological seminary, and I am a doctor of divinity. I am not a doctor of veterinary medicine." (The quotation marks are our own.)

Just another example of mistaken identity.

It is indeed, a treat for the eye to view the hand-made flowers on display in one of the windows of the Blocher jewelry store at 25-27 Chambersburg street. As Blocher's state in advertisements, "they are perfect reproductions of natural blossoms." There are pink and white dogwood, pink and white apple blossoms, African daisies, gardenias and lilies of the valley. The display is well worth a trip down Chambersburg street to view.

State Senator John S. Rice is establishing a state-wide record in the legislative halls at Harrisburg. Particularly gratifying to industries of the state was his suggestion that the state government make its purchases for state institutions from state industries, all things being equal. Senator Rice is right, and he deserves the wholehearted support of Pennsylvania industries and working men alike in promoting this movement.

Young Man Is Killed Another Dying After Speeding Car Upsets

Robert W. Gruver, 22, of Bethlehem, Dies Instantly When Machine Rolls Over and Crashes Into Tree at Eastern Edge of New Oxford at Noon Today.

E. B. HODSON, ALSO OF BETHLEHEM, IS PROBABLY FATALY INJURED

One man was killed and another probably fatally injured in an automobile accident at the eastern edge of New Oxford on the Lincoln highway shortly after noon today.

The victim was Robert W. Gruver, age about 22 years, of 311 Long street, Bethlehem, owner and operator of the coupe in which the two men were riding.

E. B. Hodson, of 740 Maple street, Bethlehem, was rushed to the Hanover general hospital in a dying condition.

Gruver suffered a depressed fracture of the skull and a probable broken neck. He died instantly.

Physicians at the Hanover hospital were working on Hodson in an effort to save his life. The extent of his injuries could not be immediately determined.

With Gruver at the wheel the coupe was traveling toward New Oxford at high speed, it was reported to police.

Frank Higginbotham, an attendant at the Fleet-Wing service station, Lincoln Way east, said he heard a sound as though a tire blew out and looking down the road he saw a car roll over in a cloud of dust.

Higginbotham ran to the car and found both men lying on the highway. The motor of the car was still running, although the body of the machine was practically demolished.

Patrolman James G. Warren of the local sub-station of the state highway patrol and Dr. Edgar A. Miller, Baltimore street, Adams county coroner, expressed the opinion that Gruver lost control of the machine when a front tire blew out.

The car ran off the south side of the highway for a distance of about 150 feet, struck a tree in front of the home of Joseph Kuhn and then rolled over coming to a stop about 70 feet from the tree.

REPORTS WORK OF HOME-NURSE PROJECT HERE

Classes Conducted in Most Communities In County Since January 17.

WOMEN SHOW KEEN INTEREST

A report of the home nursing project instituted here January 17 and which will continue into May was made this morning by Mrs. Roy W. Gifford, county chairman of the home hygiene and care of the sick group.

Associated with Mrs. Gifford are Mrs. Maude Clark, R. N., of New Oxford, R. D., and Miss Kathryn Eline, R. N., of Littlestown.

When the project was started Adams county was divided into two sections with Mrs. Clark and Miss Eline each in charge of one section.

Miss Eline organized and conducted classes in Cashtown, where 18 women were enrolled; Bendersville, with 44 members; Littlestown, 14; McSherrystown, 110, and Fountaldale.

Mrs. Clark organized and conducted the following classes: Arendtsville, 14; Heidlersburg, 12; Aspers, 10; Wrensville, 9; Green Springs, 10; New Chester, 12; Biglerville, 44, and Hampton, 24.

Where more than 20 women were enrolled in any one community the class was divided into groups including 20 women to a group. Sessions were held in school rooms, parsonages, private homes and other places where it was convenient for the women to gather. The classes were held in the afternoons and evenings, one day a week for three months.

All supplies needed were furnished by the local Red Cross chapter. The women were taught how to care for the sick and babies and were instructed on how to prepare a bed for a patient, how to give baths in bed, take temperatures and such other things helpful in a sick room.

The need for the project was emphasized by county physicians who said this knowledge would be helpful to them as well as to mothers, especially in families not so fortunately situated as those who are able to engage trained nurses during periods of illness in the home. Women in the county responded with enthusiasm and showed considerable interest in the classes.

The last class was started February 6.

MEETING DATE CHANGED

The Fairfield parent-teachers' association will meet Tuesday evening, April 2, instead of Tuesday, March 19, as previously announced.

Coupe Demolished

When the machine stopped three tires were blown out and the body of the 1934 coupe was practically demolished.

Gruver's identity was established through his automobile owner's and driver's cards. Hodson's identity was established in the same manner at the Hanover hospital.

In a grip in the car Doctor Miller found a large quantity of tickets on the Kentucky sweepstakes to be run in May in connection with the Kentucky Derby. The coroner also found a number of "number slips" in Gruver's pocket. The coroner expressed the opinion that Gruver may have been a distributor of lottery tickets.

After investigating the fatality Doctor Miller gave permission to a Hanover undertaker to remove the body. The wreckage of the car was taken to the New Oxford garage.

The tires blew out while the car was still on the three-lane section of the Lincoln highway. When the car stopped it was about ten feet from the eastern limits of New Oxford borough.

HOPKINS FACES LIBEL CHARGE

Governor of Ohio Scores Relief Administrator in 700-Word Telegram.

Columbus, Ohio, March 18 (AP)—Governor Martin L. Davey, facing possible impeachment because of charges by federal relief administrator Harry L. Hopkins that he had "incontrovertible evidence" of political corruption in administration of relief in Ohio, filed a warrant charging criminal libel against Hopkins today.

The startling developments came two days after President Roosevelt directed Hopkins to "assume entire control" of the administration of federal government's $8,000,000 a month relief bill in Ohio.

"Come to Ohio if you dare and show that you are a man or turn and run like a coward and confess your contemptible character," Davey said in concluding a 700 word telegram to Hopkins.

The warrant for criminal libel was sworn out in the municipal court at Newark, Ohio.

Hopkins dispatched to Attorney General John W. Bricker what he called "incontrovertible evidence" that business firms seeking relief contracts were "shaken down" for $8,000 by Davey's campaign committee.

As the scandal developed to proportions which may split the state democratic leadership, Charles C. Stillman took over control of the Ohio relief organization by order of President Roosevelt and indicated the "entire story" of a federal investigation of Ohio relief conditions is yet to be told.

Members of the legislature hastened back to the capital after a week-end recess and Lieutenant Governor Harold G. Mosier and J. Freer Bittinger, speaker of the house, said they would favor the assembly ordering an investigation. Both are democrats.

700 Protestant Pastors Are Seized in Churches by Nazis

Berlin, March 18 (AP)—Seven hundred pastors were arrested or detained Sunday as Nazi officers forcibly invaded Protestant churches throughout Germany to stamp out religious opposition.

Among those arrested was the Rev. Martin Niemoller, leader of the Confessional synod, which has bitterly fought the Nazi program to unify the German Protestant churches. He was taken to Alexanderplatz police headquarters late Sunday night.

The doors of the Rev. Niemoller's suburban church in Dahlem were closed when the congregation arrived. They stood around a while and then joined in hearty singing. They choose the Luther hymn "A Mighty Fortress is Our God."

Twelve pastors were arrested at Magdeburg and five at Halle. It was believed the number of those arrested would be much higher when fuller reports came in from the provinces.

SLAYER OF U. S. AGENT CAUGHT

Virginia Moonshiner Captured As He Lay Sleeping; Confesses Crimes.

Leesburg, Va., March 18 (AP)—Thomas Quisenberry, bearded mountaineer-moonshiner sought for the killing of an Alexandria (Va.) police officer and the wounding of a federal agent, was captured near here late Sunday by Federal Agent S. C. Burgess and State Officers Raymond Bailiss, George Miller and H. C. Gatewood.

Quisenberry was found hiding in a ditch within a mile of the spot where the fatal wounding of Officer Clarence J. McClary occurred earlier Sunday. He was armed with a rifle and a revolver, officers said, but offered no resistance when they covered him with their own weapons and called on him to surrender.

Admits Three Killings, They Say

Quisenberry admitted, they said, that he was an escaped convict from Wisconsin and that he had killed three men.

Capture Caps Two-Day Hunt

The capture capped a two-day hunt in which armed citizens under the direction of Mayor Charles F. Harrison of Leesburg, coast guardsmen from Maryland and a coast guard airplane had combed the mountain country for the fugitive.

He was asleep in a deep ravine a mile from the spot where McClary was killed when the party of officers came upon him. A dog with him started to bark, but before the mountaineer was fully awake the officers covered him with their guns. Leaving his rifle and revolver in the brush, Quisenberry came out with his hands lifted. Word of the capture was flashed from a radio truck to the treasury department at Washington and the prisoner was taken to Loudoun county jail here.

"Had to Fire Back," He Says

John Galleher, commonwealth attorney, and the officers who made the capture immediately began grilling him. They said they asked him why he had fired on the officers and the grim, taciturn mountaineer was quoted as saying:

"They were pushing me close and shooting at me. I had to fire back."

He told the questioners that he was born in Carroll county, Virginia, but he had been in every state of the union. He had also been in Mexico and Canada, he said. He is said to have come to Loudoun county a year ago from Galax, in southwest Virginia.

NO MONEY FOR LOSING PRINCE

Barbara Hutton to Divorce Husband and She Won't Give Him a Penny.

London, March 18 (AP)—Barbara Hutton Mdivani, $42,000,000 American princess, insisted Sunday that when she gets her divorce from her Georgian prince she will not have to settle a single penny upon him—he is going to have to shift for himself.

"This has been mutually agreed upon," said the princess with a determined air. "Besides, he has property himself in Spain and other places in Europe, and oil interests in the United States."

"He will continue to fill in a position in the Georgian legation in Paris."

Denies Giving Him Allowance

Princess Barbara denied reports that she even had granted Alexis a separate allowance during her less than two years of married life. She announced Saturday night that she had instructed her lawyer in New York to institute divorce proceedings.

The Woolworth heiress seemed composed Sunday, although she smoked innumerable cigarettes. There had been earlier statements by hotel employees that "she has been on the verge of hysterics" since arriving from Paris.

"We have had to turn everybody away, telling them she was out of town for the week-end," hotel employees had said.

Far from being upset, the princess seemed in the best of spirits when seen at her hotel suite with her "kid cousin," Jimmy Donahue, who joined her here Friday night.

Cousin Helped Change Her Mind

Explaining why she had said only last Thursday that her married life was "perfectly happy" and that there were no plans whatever for a separation, she declared:

"I was determined to say nothing about it at all costs, but I changed my mind Saturday."

The princess was persuaded by the slender, pink-cheeked Donahue to let the secret out after a long-distance telephone conversation between Jimmy and his mother in Florida Saturday morning. His mother said rumors were widely current in the United States and she thought it advisable for the princess to make public her plans.

son, nervousness and restlessness in the world. We need something to steady our faltering, something that shall give strength to the fearful heart of man. Faith in the eternal truths of God will do that. It will scatter fear. We are in need of this hour of a confidence in the reality of spiritual values. There must be a reappraisal of a sense of values in life.

Spiritual Decline

"The world depression is something far more than an economic situation. The cause lies far deeper than the collapse of the stock market. There has been spiritual decline before financial depression. The root of the matter is in the bankruptcy of our spiritual life. The church of Christ has been given this great task to perform."

GREAT RICHES

by Mabel Howe Farnham

SYNOPSIS: James Stinson, III, last of the New Concord, Kan., Stinsons with the exception of his maiden Aunt Sarah, has been compelled to forego college because Sarah lost most of the family money. James has read law in Judge Holcomb's office, however, and the judge is convinced he has a prodigy under his wing. New Concord's money, meanwhile, has started to find James a suitable wife.

JANE NORTHRUP

The ladies were agreed on one point at least. Beauty they decided they might be a help, but could be waived. Charm of manner and consideration for older people were considered indispensable.

Serious mindedness was debatable as was a fondness for the sterner sex as well as an aptitude for church work.

But the self elected arbiters of James' destiny set so high a standard as their ideal for his mate that it seemed for a long long while that they never would agree and that James would be left to bumble along unaided and marry in the usual hit or miss fashion.

And then when they were most discouraged, in a regular "Isn't-Truth-Stranger-Than-Fiction" fashion, just after the ladies had come up bump against an insurmountable impasse, Jane Adelaide Northrup returned home from two years' schooling in New England followed by a year in Europe.

The ideal was suddenly found and the quest ended. As they all joyfully agreed it really seemed too good to be true.

That Jane passed with flying colors every test that the most subtle ingenuity of feminine intellect could devise showed the stuff that she was made of. Even the most critical and most exacting of James' friends, even those who had cherished secret hopes for their own daughters, agreed that Jane seemed to have been made to order as the perfect wife for the brilliant but impractical embryo statesman.

The little circle of earnest enthusiasts drew a deep breath of complete satisfaction as they rested after solving their problem.

As Miss Julia remarked, "It did seem that Providence was looking out for James all the while, just like the Judge had said."

There remained only the minor matter of arranging to throw the chosen two together, so that they might fall properly in love. For of course it was to be a love match; nothing less for Dr. Jim's son was to be thought of. Their part was merely to guide a young man's way.

Jane Northrup had left home three years earlier an overgrown, rather forward, pert and much spoiled only daughter of New Concord's richest citizen. No one except Jane's father and mother had thought then that she gave promise of good looks or charm.

But she returned so lovely a thing to look at, so perfectly mannered and polished and "finished" a product that her native town felt a warm glow of pride in producing her.

Jane undoubtedly possessed what is known in New Concord as "a heat" on her shoulders and she very evidently had used it to the best possible advantage. She dressed beautifully, carried herself well, made the most of every good point.

As she walked down North Fifth Street, apparently quite unconscious of her young alluring slimmness, the women smiled at her. As she passed along Commercial Street all masculine eyes followed her, gleaming complete approbation.

Every belt and buckle of Jane's was always in place, every flounce smooth and straight, every dark strand of satiny hair just where it should be. Jane possessed the rare gift of being able to go to a picnic wearing a white dress and of coming back as fresh and immaculate as when she set out, while every other girl present would return flushed and untidy.

She was blessed besides with a clear white skin that seldom burned or chapped, with quantities of dark wavy hair, which she wore in a braid on her head like a crown and with deeply fringed sparkling black eyes.

Jane's physical charms were but the beginning of her utter desirability. Everything James lacked Jane had. She had self-confidence enough for two for one thing, she had money, stacks and stacks of it (or at least her father had), and she was practical and sensible enough for a half dozen.

Look how she took hold when her mother was ill and ran that Kermess and raised the money for the Women's Rest Room—a really marvelous achievement for a girl of twenty-two.

Moreover, Jane had blood almost as blue as James' own, at least on the Northrup side (Mrs. Northrup coming from Wisconsin and nobody knowing much about her family) and to cap it all Jane's childhood pertness had developed into a truly delightful cleverness. Indeed Jane was soon famed far and wide for her witty speeches and the aptness of her quick replies.

A widely quoted bon mot was Jane's careless assertion that when she met someone she found she could not interest by any exertion she talked about herself so that one of them at least should have a good time.

Another, referring to Tom Snifens, who had a rich brother-in-law named Axel Dodsworth, was that Tom probably never would amount to much as long as he "had an axel to grind." It was agreed in all New Concord that Jane would "shine" in Washington society and be a great help to her husband.

Is it any wonder then that the good ladies who had James' career so much at heart felt that James and Jane were "made" for each other—by a complacent Omnipotent Providence?

Or is it any wonder that there was bewilderment and confusion exceeding all bounds when James, after meeting the new Jane a dozen or more times and after dining with her, dancing with her, picnicking with her in the moonlight, and seeming to make the most favorable impressions upon the paragon herself, out of a clear sky, after knowing her all his life, suddenly seemed to notice little Leslie Harris for the first time, and thereupon dropped Jane as abruptly and unexpectedly as if she had been made of nettles.

Every spare hour of his thereafter was devoted to Leslie—Leslie Harris, the printer's daughter—Leslie of all people! No wonder Miss Julia and Miss Sarah and Aunt Lou and all their friends wrung their hands in deep despair.

Nevertheless, as Miss Julia said herself, they might have expected it. Wasn't it exactly like him? They should have been prepared. (Copyright, 1935, Mabel H. Farnham)

Tomorrow, the sewing circle gives Leslie the once over.

WINGS TROUCE CAPITAL QUINT

Return to Action to Score Decisive Victory Over Rinaldi Taylors, in Washington

Seemingly greatly benefited by a week of rest, the Gettysburg Fleet-Wings resumed action over the week-end by walloping the Rinaldi Taylors, at Washington, D. C., 46-13.

The Rinaldi club recently defeated the Washington Heurichs, arch rivals of the Wings, and then sought a game with the Wings, only to be thoroughly outclassed.

The Wings piled up a 13-2 lead in the first quarter. Sweeney's goal being the only score for the Washington team. The second quarter was a repetition of the first, the strong Wing defense holding the opponents to a goal by Ronkin. At half time the Wings led, 22-4.

Heller and Kitzmiller were the offensive stars for the Wings. The victory marked the thirty-seventh of the year for the locals.

Wednesday evening the Wings will meet the New Britain club of the American league, at Hanover.

Mount St. Mary's Captures Maryland State Cage Title

The bells of Mount St. Mary's rang loud in triumph Sunday night to welcome the victorious band of athletes back to Emmitsburg, bearing the state collegiate basketball championship. They earned it in combat with Loyola at Homewood, Md., 38 to 35, in a fast, intense and aggressive game, the final one of a three-game series.

How the game progressed is quickly told. There were three distinct phases. In the first, which lasted throughout the opening half, Mount St. Mary's was ascendant. The Mountaineers rolled up a comfortable lead and protected it against a Loyola team that was over-anxious as it saw the adverse score rise. The second occupied the space of eight minutes in the second period, when Loyola roared into the greatest rally the season had known. They passed the Mountmen like their mascot greyhounds outrun a turtle. With ten minutes to go they had erased a ten-point deficit and enjoyed a four-point lead.

Mounts Rally Wits

But the inevitable third phase of the contest set in. The Mountmen gathered their badly shaken wits and resorted to the tactics that had earned the big first-half lead. They began to regain control of the ball and work their men into open positions for shots that couldn't miss. And they won with a counter-attack that matched the Loyola rally and went it one better.

The conclusion saw Loyola vainly trying every desperate shot known to the sport, but the last whistle caught the score board reading 38 to 35. By the margin of a field goal and foul shot the Mountmen had won.

So, in the three years of existence of the Maryland collegiate basketball league, Mount St. Mary's has won two championships. They captured the first title, lost it to Western Maryland last year and regained the laurel wreath Saturday night. Or was it a shamrock?

Reilly Again Star

Arthur Malloy, the coach of the Emmitsburg institution, can retire to become steward, leaving the reins of sport to the possession of Joe Lawler with the knowledge of a job well done in basket ball. His team was sharp Saturday night, particularly in that first half, when it seemed the visitors couldn't miss.

Charley Reilly, the little guard who was overlooked at the start of the three-game playoff, was the star for the second consecutive occasion. He was the mainspring of the team when it won the second game to even the count last Tuesday at Emmitsburg. In the deciding contest he gave Loyola even more trouble. He registered the first three baskets made for the Mountaineer side and continued to become high scorer for the contest, with 13 points to his credit. He compelled Tom Carney, ace defensive player of Loyola, to switch from guarding Bob Leahy to himself, and while Carney held him in better check, Leahy helped the cause along with two subsequent baskets.

Loyola Starts Poorly

In the first part of the game, Loyola looked as though it did not belong in the same league with the upstate team. Mount St. Mary's gained the ball at center, worked men loose repeatedly, hit the target with outside shots and within 10 minutes gained a lead of 11 points at 13 to 4.

Price Colvin, Loyola captain, returned to the form of which he is capable and proved a ringleader in his last game. He accounted for 13 points. But it was Tom Carney who supplied the punch of the rally in the second half that brought the game to its climax.

The second half began with Loyola trailing by seven points. To make matters worse, from the Evergreen standpoint, Mount St. Mary's scored three more to lead at 27 to 17. Here a scoring streak, made possible by swift passing that worked the defense out of position, enabled the Greyhounds to take the lead by three points before Mount St. Mary's could add another marker.

Sweden Spends for Home Improvement

Sockholm (AP).—The improvement of more than 25,000 homes, at a cost of about $4,500,000 was financed by the Swedish government in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1934, according to a report just made public.

Approximately $3,500,000 were spent on improvements and the remainder on new buildings. Only $750,000 of the money expended must be repaid, being distributed in the form of 20-year loans at 4.5 per cent interest.

A total of $2,500,000 has been set aside for similar work in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1935.

An investigation revealed 60,000 homes regarded as defective in some way or other.

Norway Winning Recovery Battle

Oslo (AP).—Norway, with a distinct improvement in national economy reported at the recent opening of the parliament, will continue to combat the depression in much the same manner as during the past year, with a budgeted appropriation of $10,000,000.

This amount will be used to aid prices and marketing in agriculture and fishing, help communities in the conversion of loans, provide loans at lower interest rates and, on relief projects, directly fight unemployment.

The proposed budget for the fiscal year 1935-36 is balanced at a total of about $100,000,000, or an increase of less than 4 per cent.

American Funds to Beautify Cathedral

Aberdeen (AP).—Funds raised by the Protestant Episcopal church in America are to be spent in beautifying St. Andrew's Cathedral.

Plans for improvement, notably the decoration of the nave, have been approved by the American Seabury Memorial committee.

Work is to be started immediately on emblazoning the roof with an historic shield. The immediate cost will be $10,000.

Originally the money raised in the United States was intended for a million dollar cathedral at Aberdeen, commemorating the consecration of Bishop Seabury, first bishop of the American church.

BERWICK PLAYS IN SEMI-FINALS

"Junie" Bream's Cagers Reach Last Hurdle; to Battle Allentown High.

"Junie" Bream's Berwick high school cagers will clash with Allentown high Tuesday night on the Pottsville high floor in the Eastern finals of the P. I. A. A. tournament.

This resulted Saturday night when Berwick dished out a 37-22 defeat to Ashley high, at Sunbury, while Allentown was trouncing Pottstown high, 28-17, at Villanova. Out in the western playoffs "Snaps" Emanuel's Altoona hoopers were knocked out of the race Saturday night by a 31-19 reverse at the hands of Fifth Avenue high of Pittsburgh. Emanuel, like Bream, is a graduate of Gettysburg college.

The winner of the Berwick-Allentown tilt will clash with the winner of the Rankin-Pittsburgh Fifth Avenue game, Saturday night, March 23, for the state title. The site for the game has not yet been selected but it will be staged in the east.

Commenting on the Berwick team, a Philadelphia newspaper says:

"This year's Berwick team is hailed as the best of a series of fine quintets produced by Junie Bream, former Gettysburg college athlete. All of them have been noted for their defense."

"They call Berwick the Bulldogs and Bream's boys played like them in limiting Keystone league opponents to an average of 14 11-16 points per game."

"Kirk, the center, is Berwick's high scorer. Koch, a guard, and Eglody, a forward, have also tallied heavily for the Bulldogs."

BIRDS KNOW THEIR FRIENDS

Summerville, S. C. (AP).—At least 20 species of birds have been counted at one time in the front yard of William Gadsden who feeds them regularly. None ever shows fear of him or his daughter, Mary.

WANTED: 1000 SKINNY GIRLS!

The kind that long to fill out flat chests and those scrawny hollows but who can't gain an ounce no matter what they eat!

To those who are skinny, rundown, underweight—and even to folks who have been "Naturally Skinny" for years, the manufacturers of Kelpamalt, the new natural mineral concentrate from the sea—make this startling offer. Take 3 Kelpamalt tablets with each meal for one week. At the end of that period if you have not gained at least from 3 to 5 lbs., bring back the unused tablets and get your money back.

Kelpamalt is unlike anything you have ever tried. It acts "3 ways in 1" to build fascinating extra pounds of good solid flesh. First, its rich supply of practically every needed body mineral stimulates the digestive glands that produce the juices needed to digest fats and starches—the weight building elements in food. Next it contains an amazingly effective digestive substance that actually can digest 4 times its own weight in flesh building food. Third, Kelpamalt's generous amount of "NATURAL IODINE" normalizes the overactive internal glands that keep down body weight. It prevents tissues from being too quickly broken down and consumed—burnt up by the body.

Start Kelpamalt today and watch new pounds of solid fattening flesh quickly appear in place of scrawny hollows. Notice, too, how much better you feel. And remember, results are guaranteed or money back. Kelpamalt costs but a few cents a day to use.

If then I do that which I would not, I consent unto the law that it is good.

Now then it is no more I that do it, but sin that dwelleth in me.
For I know that in me (that is, in my flesh,) dwelleth no good thing; for to will is present with me; but how to perform that which is good I find not.

For the good that I would, I do not; but the evil which I would not, that I do.

Now if I do that I would not, it is no more I that do it, but sin that dwelleth in me.

I find that in a law, that when I would do good, evil is present with me.

For I delight in the law of God
after the inward man:

But I see another law in my members, warring against the law of my mind, and bringing me into captivity to the law of sin which is in my members.

O wretched man that I am!
who shall deliver me from the body of this death?

I thank God through Jesus mind I myself serve the law of God; but with the flesh the law of sin.

HIS WAY

He never let his care disturb his joy when it was time to play.

He never hid the morning sun behind the clouds of yesterday;

He never let the bad in men blind him to neighbors fine and good

He did his share of grieving but he laughed as often as he could.

Because one man had played him false he didn't say all men are base.

He frowned on what he thought was wrong yet met the good with smiling face;

He didn't talk about the pains he'd had when he was feeling well, Nor make of life a tragedy because he had some woes to tell.

He lived his life from day to day, met what he found without a whine.

Was grieved when grief was his but bear and happy when his skies were fine.

He fought when there were wrongs to right and toiled when there was work to do.

Yet made the most of what was good, and kept his troubles out of view.

Today's Talk

By George Matthew Adams
ON BEING SATISFIED

AS YET I have never met anyone, of real spirit, who would acknowledge that he was satisfied with himself or with his achievements.

The very essence of growth and usefulness is buried within the mind of every dissatisfied person. Lafcadio Hearn, known for his exquisite style and beauty of thought, once wrote that for month on end he couldn't write a single line that satisfied him. At one time, when he was half starved for food, he submitted an article to a New Orleans paper and was paid $10.00 for it; but when it had appeared and he noted changes had been made, he rushed to the office and furiously threw that small amount upon the desk of the editor, saying he did not want money for an article from him which had been mutilated!

I read an article about Alphonse Legros, the great painter and etcher, written by one of his students, where he said that Legros was forever destroying masterpieces—because they did not satisfy him. Legros, himself, stated that over half of the things which he did produce should have been destroyed. Never satisfied—but a master!

There is nothing to worry about in a restless age nor in a restless person. It means "growing pains." It means thinking. It means creation!
The dissatisfied people are those who are forever waking up the dormant and unthinking. All improvement and progress is a result of never being satisfied with the thing at hand. Take the automobile, as an example in industry. A few years ago we thought we had done a good day's drive when we had covered 75 miles in a day—but now—well, that is just a pleasant drive after dinner! And these new models are safer, easier riding, and cheaper in price, as well as being geared for greater speed.

When a person admits being satisfied, that admission is evidence of decline in mind and spirit. Nothing has ever been done too well!

they scoop over the shoulders and the fineness of design found in ex-

Give the girl of the between age a cape, recommends Marian Martin.
It will enhance those young shoulmodel is simple enough—but new. It forms a yoke and sleeve effect, and may be omitted entirely for warm weather or for active sports. No-may be made in a youthful print with plenty of color or in white and worn with a hat which has a brim to complement the shoulder width.

If you wish, the cape may be made in a contrasting color.

Roosevelts Celebrate Marriage
Date in Family Holiday Fashion

Washington, March 18 (AP)—A picnic and a quiet Sunday night supper made the thirtieth wedding anniversary of the President and Mrs. Roosevelt Sunday a typical family holiday.

Both heard good news early in the morning when they were told that Louis Howe, the president's secretary, was better.

Then Mrs. Roosevelt, her daughter, Anna Roosevelt Boettiger, and her son-in-law, John Boettiger, went for a morning canter.

They returned to pack the whole family off for a picnic, destination unannounced, into a brisk and bracing March combination of sun, wind and cloud.

Such informal expeditions are a frequent Sunday experiences with the Roosevelts. At least two tea houses within a ten-mile radius of the capital are not surprised when a presidential party comes driving up some rainy Sunday afternoon.

Just after dusk the President's uncle and aunts, Mr. and Mrs.
Frederic A. Delano and Mrs. Dora Delano Forbes, came in for the traditional Sunday night scrambled eggs supper around the silver chafing dish that was a wedding gift.

It is when the President and Mrs.
Roosevelt at table with elders of their clan that the full significance of their thirty years together appears. Their conversation, running a comfortable, full-flavored sweep of timely topics, odd incidents, humorous family experiences, literary allusions, is the kind of table talk that grows only where conversation has been an art for generations.

The president's personality decidedly dominates it. He talks the with cherry mixture. Turn over three-cornered fashion and place in shallow baking pan. Prick top with fork. Bake 25 minutes in moderate oven.

Cherry Mixture

2 cups seeded red cherries; 2/3 cup sugar; 2 tablespoons flour; ¼ teaspoon salt; 1 teaspoon cinnamon; ¼ teaspoon cloves; 1 tablespoon lemon juice.

Mix ingredients and cook 3 minutes, stirring constantly. Spread on dough.

French Army Holds
To Using Horses

Paris (AP)—France is going to stand by the old army horse, in spite of widespread demands to revamp the cavalry into an infantry on wheels.

Exclusive dependence on motor power for transportation of materials and men, the general staff believes, is dangerous.

France's oil supplies come from foreign and distant colonial sources. In time of war, if communications were cut by blockade, a motorized army might be paralyzed.

In an official experiment, 554 plant lice were found in the stomach of a single chickadee, the pert little bird that is regarded as one of the farmers' best friends.

INSPECT NEW YORKERS' FOOD

MAY IMPEACH OHIO'S DAVEY

Presidential Decree in State's Relief Administration Stirs Leaders.

Columbus, Ohio, March 18 (AP)—A threat of impeachment hangs over Governor Martin L. Davey.

His voice in administration of Ohio relief silenced by a presidential decree, the tree surgeon who mounted the gubernatorial chair only nine weeks ago faced a fight for his job.

John W. Bricker, republican attorney-general, stood ready to take before a grand jury information Harry L. Hopkins, federal relief administrator, asserted was "incontrovertible evidence" that the governor's campaign committee engaged in a "shake-down" of men and business firms who sold goods to the Ohio relief administration.

Reported Out Of Town

The governor was reported by associates to be "out of town" as Hopkins' personal representative, Charles C. Stillman arrived from Washington to carry out President Roosevelt's order that Hopkins "assume entire control" of Ohio.

Impeachment proceedings probably will depend on the outcome of the contemplated grand jury inquiry. The 52-year-old governor was elected last November by 60,000 votes on a platform pledging economy in state government and a wholesale shake-up of the state relief administration.

SOOT MAY BE BANISHED

If you do not wish to show hospitality to soot that may gather around your wood-burning fireplace clean the sides where the soot has collected with a weak mixture of salt and vinegar.

While on the dark, dull subject of dirt, stains can be removed from the kitchen sink or any enamel by cleaning with a steel, or rough glove.

Keep several ironing board covers on hand, so the covers can be easily and quickly changed.

DON'T LET COMMON CONSTIPATION DULL THE JOY OF LIVING

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Brings Relief

Constipation takes the sunshine out of your days. It may bring headaches, loss of appetite and energy, sleeplessness, sallow skins, pimples.

Fortunately, you can avoid this condition by eating a delicious cereal. Laboratory tests show that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides two things needed to help overcome common constipation: "bulk" and vitamin B. ALL-BRAN is also a rich source of blood-building iron.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of leafy vegetables. Within the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently, it clears out the intestinal wastes.

How much better than dosing yourself with patent medicines. Two tablespoonsful of ALL-BRAN daily are usually sufficient. With each meal in chronic cases. If seriously ill, see your doctor—ALL-BRAN is not a "cure-all."

Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.
